Let's Start!

Let's go to the ballet!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you go to the ballet?
- Do you enjoy watching dance? What kind?
- Do you enjoy dancing?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about things to do or take on a trip.
- I can react to and comment on stories and anecdotes.
- I can describe objects with words.

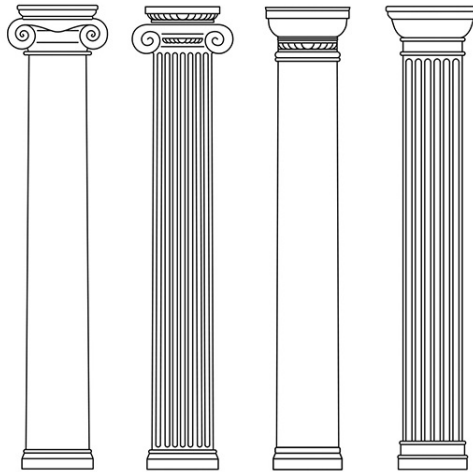

Let's Explore!

Sally hears a story about a small quiet girl!

* A "quiet" person does not talk much, or attract a lot of attention.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Stranger: Are you interested in the Bolshoi Theater?
Sally: Yes, it's a grand old building!
Stranger: My grandmother came here every day. Come and look inside!
Sally: Really?
Stranger: My grandmother watched rehearsals. She practiced in the balcony. No one noticed a small quiet girl.
Sally: Uh huh.
Stranger: One day the beautiful prima ballerina, Natalia Dudiniska, called her to the stage.
Sally: You're kidding!
Stranger: She watched my grandmother dance. She checked her feet and posture.
Sally: She did!
Stranger: Then she took grandmother to the ballet master. He gave her small pink leather slippers. She began rehearsing the next day.
Sally: Amazing!
Stranger: Here is a photo of my grandmother, Olga Petrova, dancing in Swan Lake!
Sally: Unbelievable!
Stranger: Come to the theater tonight. Watch my daughter dance.
Sally: I'd love to!

Let's Practice!

The prima ballerina danced in Swan Lake.

Learning Points

The Order of Adjectives

When you use two or more adjectives, the order of the adjectives is important.

The following is the order of adjectives you need to keep in mind when describing something or someone:

general opinion, specific opinion, size, shape, age, color, nationality, material

Adjective order	Example
opinion	tattered
shape	square
age	old
color	brown
nationality	Chinese
material	lacquer

Examples:

- She wore an expensive red cotton dress to the party.
- The ballerina wore a soft pink silk costume.

Learning Points

Reacting to and Commenting on Stories

When you react to a story, you should let the storyteller know that you are interested.

When you react, you can say things like:

Really?
She did?
You're kidding!
Amazing!
Unbelievable!
I don't believe it!
No!

Examples:

- Anne: The bride ran out of the church and left the groom at the altar!
- Tom: I don't believe it!
